

STATUTE

SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY
for
NON-DESTRUCTIVE TESTING and DIAGNOSTICS

Foreword

NON-DESTRUCTIVE TESTING

In 1895 Wilhelm Conrad Röntgen discovered electromagnetic radiation in a wavelength range today known as X-rays or Röntgen rays, an achievement that earned him the first Nobel Prize in Physics in 1901. The discovery of X-rays, initially implemented for medical diagnostics soon after started to be used in industry.

Today Non-Destructive Testing-NDT is the branch of science and engineering concerned with all methods of detecting and evaluating flaws in materials using in-service inspection and condition monitoring of operating plants. It is also used for materials characterization, geometric measurements, and evaluation of physical properties without impairing its future usefulness.

The subject of NDT is broad and expanding. It ranges from simple techniques, such as visual examination of surfaces; to well-established methods of radiography, ultrasonic testing, and magnetic particle testing; or new and very specialized methods, such as the measurement of Barkhausen noise and positron annihilation to define materials properties.

NDT is a discipline regulated by mandatory standards, norms, guidelines, etc. that provides technogenic, ecological and public safety.

The eminent scientists and engineers from Universities, R&D centers and Industry establish the ACADEMIA NDT INTERNATIONAL to promote all the International aspects of science, research and technology of NDT also teaching for a world safer and benefits the public in various direct or indirect ways.

ACADEMIA NDT is an international body because only through international contributions, would the highest level of knowledge be realized and achieved.

Statute was first developed in 2008 and subsequently updated.

The present revision of the Statute incorporate the experience of 10 years of Academia NDT existing and changes necessary for Academia conversion into an association with a legal status.

ACADEMIA NDT INTERNATIONAL

Article 1: Definition and scope

- 1.1. The Academia NDT International (hereinafter called 'the Academia') is an independent, international, non-government, non-profit, and unincorporated association of individuals who are devoted in a combined effort as Academia members with the objective of promoting science, research and development and education in the area of NDT.
- 1.2. The scope of activities of the Academia shall embrace all means possible to prevent structural failures, casualties, and any incidents that might have negative or catastrophic consequences caused by natural, technical or terrorist threats. These services provided by the Academia are for the benefit of all mankind.

Article 2: Purposes and objectives

- 2.1. The purposes and objectives of the Academia are:
 - a) To promote science, and research and development activities as well as encourage the practical applications of the findings in the field of NDT at Universities, R&D centers and Institutions and other relevant bodies throughout the world.
 - b) To establish and maintain a network among Scientists and Technologists involved in the basic sciences, research and development for NDT methods, techniques, equipment and implementation advancement.
 - c) To attract the attention of international authorities, governments, agencies and public organizations to the important role and benefits that NDT can provide. This may involve:
 - ◆ conducting expert evaluation of projects including issues of estimating the possible financial, social, political and legal consequences of catastrophic structural failures and accidents of comprehensive technical and technological systems and their transboundary impacts;
 - ◆ producing recommendations on prevention of catastrophes and accidents.
 - d) To develop and contribute with a bank of knowledge; and to understand and implement the NDT philosophy, theory and practices in achieving quality materials, services and processes for the benefit of mankind.
 - e) To combine efforts of leading scientists in the field of NDT to prevent technogenic and ecological accidents, foresee negative consequences caused by natural catastrophe and to contribute in improvement of public safety and security.
 - f) To highlight the work of the research and development in NDT.
 - g) To support NDT societies and relevant organizations, such as ICNDT, EFNDT, Pan-American, Pan-Pacific, Pan-African regional groups, by transferring knowledge of the scientific and technological NDT achievements.

ACADEMIA NDT INTERNATIONAL

- h) To prepare and support the nominations of the most outstanding members of the Academia NDT International for the National, International and Regional scientific awards.
- i) To make proposals and give opinions on the promotion of science and technology in the fields which are of special importance to NDT activities.
- j) To be mindful of the contributions from scientists and distinguished professionals in the NDT field and support their involvement in Academia NDT International.
- k) To promote and support R&D projects in NDT.

2.2. The purposes and objectives of the Academia shall be pursued by such means as may be determined by the Academia in particular by:

- a) The organization of working groups, committees or any other units or commissions.
